Hunters Facing Possible Bar In Fire Hazard

Serious Conditions in Forests Caused by High Temperatures

Possibility that hunters may be barred from the woods of the Vancouver Forest District when the season opens Saturday was indicated by the Forest Service yesterday.

In an announcement last night the service said that continued high temperatures and lack of rain is creating a serious hazard condition.

Klan Burns Effigies Of Robeson

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 7 (INS)—The Ku Klux Klan, in full dress, tonight burned a cross on a hill overlooking Birmingham on which the effigies of Paul Robeson and "Communists in general" were hanging.

E. E. Campbell, Grand Cyclops of the Robert E. Lee Klavern of the federated Alabama Klan, directed the hanging and burning ceremony. Campbell said similar procedures were followed by klans throughout the South tonight.

On each arm of the large cross hung a bundle of straw and dressed in ragged clothing. One bore the inscription, "Welcome Paul Robeson." The sign on the other dummy bore only a large question mark.

Campbell said he understood Robeson plans to visit Birmingham. Asked for whom the unidentified dummy stood, Campbell said, "Use your imagination."

Campbell told International News Service that the cross burning and hanging was not a threat, but rather a protest, directed at "Paul Robeson and his kind who are causing strife in the United States."

Says U.K. Crisis Imperils World Trade Structure

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps asked the United States today to give Britain a better chance to earn dollars. He warned that the British financial crisis imperils "the whole trading structure of the world."

The British Chancellor of the Exchequer did not go into detail but it was plain he meant, for one thing, easier entry of British goods into United States markets.

Sir Stafford spoke at an afternoon session of the American-British-Canadian Conference, called to consider ways of ending the British crisis which is marked by a growing shortage of the dollars Britain vitally needs to support herself.

NO MONEY GRANTS
Roy said the United States was prepared to take all "appropriate" steps to help Britain, though he made plain that no new money grants were in the cards. He said

Two Suspects Remanded On Counterfeit Charges

VANCOUVER, Sept. 7 (CP)—Two men, suspected members of a Dominion-wide counterfeit ring, today were remanded for preliminary hearing on charges of being in possession of bogus banknotes.

Bail was set at $10,000 for Lloyd Presley of Vancouver, who was also charged with circulating quantities of the bills. He was remanded for a week.

No bail was set for Eugene Lewis, 20, also of Vancouver, who will appear in court tomorrow to answer a charge of being in possession of the fake money.

The pair were arrested at the Pacific National Exhibition Monday, following discovery by city police of about $4,000 in counterfeit banknotes.

Conference on Financial Crisis Under Way

British, United States and Canadian leaders took their seats at the conference table in Washington yesterday to discuss the British financial crisis. Left to right at the table in this wirephoto are British Ambassador Oliver Franks, Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer; United States Secretary of State Dean Acheson, British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin, United States Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, Canadian Finance Minister Douglas C. Abbott, Canadian External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson, Canadian Ambassador Hume Wrong, and E.C.A. Chief Paul Hoffman.

Placard-carrying pickets who called themselves "American-Irish Minutemen" are shown above picketing New York Pier 90 as the liner Mauseland docked, carrying Ernest Bevin and Sir Stafford Cripps to the dollar talks. The pickets demanded that British troops be removed from Northern Ireland and that the United States cease giving Marshall Plan aid to Britain.

BULLETINS

23 Missing

HONGKONG, Sept. 8 (Thursday) (CP)—A small British merchant ship blew up in Hongkong harbor late Wednesday night and at least 23 aboard were reported missing and believed dead early today.

A raging fire followed the blast aboard the Jardine Matheson Line ship, Chakong, 928 tons, lighting up the harbor for several hours. The ill-fated vessel had 76 aboard, a crew of 66 and ten passengers.

Typhoon Near

HONGKONG, Sept. 7 (CP)—The Royal Observatory said tonight a typhoon is building up in the China Sea. It urged residents and business firms in this Crown colony to close storm windows. Winds of gale proportions are expected tomorrow morning.

Changes Direction

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 7 (AP)—An enormous Atlantic hurricane changed direction today and headed for Bermuda.

The British-owned islands were told to prepare for hurricane-force winds (75 miles an hour and over) before noon tomorrow.

Nations Face Same Fate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (CP)—Finance Minister Douglas Abbott of Canada said today Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom must "go up or down together."

He told the British-Canadian-American financial conference that economic co-operation between the three countries is as important as political co-operation.

"If we really believe that," he said, "we have some real chance of finding a solution for the problem before us—and possibly going to something bigger."

Abbott said "aggressive Communism" had received a setback by the signing of the Atlantic Pact. But Communists "hoped to regain that lost ground by exploiting the economic instability and difficulties which they claim are inherent in our system."

V.M.D. Given Order On New Minesweeper

Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., has been awarded a contract for the building of a Royal Canadian Navy coastal minesweeper.

This was announced in Ottawa late yesterday, and received with joy here by officials and workmen of the local shipyard.

"We were indeed pleased to hear this news," said H. S. Hamill, V.M.D.'s general manager. It was too early, he added, to say whether additional men would be required. It has not been decided as yet if the minesweeper will be built at the Outer Wharf or Bay Street plant of V.M.D.

ONE OF FOUR JOBS
The minesweeper contract awarded to V.M.D. was one of four such jobs. Others will be constructed at Saint John, N.B., Drydock Co. Ltd.; Davis Shipbuilding and Repairing Co. Ltd., Lunenburg, Que.; and Port Arthur Shipbuilding Co. Ltd., Port Arthur.

A contract for the building of a trawler-type gate vessel, for use by the Navy, has been awarded to George T. Davis & Sons, Ltd., at Lunenburg, Que.

It has been reported that the five naval vessels, in addition to a large contract for a ship for the Department of Transport, will cost a total of about $8,000,000.

The four coastal minesweepers and the naval gate vessel are all in addition to previously awarded orders for three anti-submarine vessels which will cost some $8,000,000 each.

While basically of British design, the minesweepers ordered for the R.C.N. will be the first of their class to be built. It is expected the first will be completed in mid-1951. The vessels, of 370 tons displacement, will have twin screws driven by two diesel engines, and each will carry a complement of about five officers and 35 men.

The transport minister revealed that the projected ice-breaker would be built by Davis Shipbuilding and Repairing Company, Limited, builders of the C. D. Howe due to make its first patrol of Arctic outposts next summer equipped with a helicopter and other modern devices.

The transport minister said the contracts were part of a $60,000,000 ship-building program undertaken by the Government and for which about half the contracts already have been given.

Polio on Wane In Province
Indications are the poliomyelitis epidemic is slowing down, the provincial health department said yesterday.

Earlier this year health department officials feared the epidemic might wear above 1947, the peak year.

A round-up of cases reported to the department up to yesterday showed the total at 147, of which 101 were in the Greater Vancouver area and the remainder spread throughout the Province. At the same time in 1947, the number was 160.

There have been only two deaths this year.

Three Liberals Go To Senate Seats; Election Date Set

May Avert Strike Of Loggers

A showdown in prolonged negotiations between British Columbia coastal lumber operators and the International Woodworkers of America (I.W.A.-C.C.L.), representing some 32,000 workers in the lumber industry, is expected today, reports from various sources indicated last night.

Just what form the showdown will take, is not known, but it was considered more likely last night that a strike would be averted.

Negotiations began four months ago and were thought to have been suspended three weeks ago, following rejection of a majority "status quo" coalition report by the I.W.A. and the union's subsequent request for a Government-supervised strike vote.

SECRET NEGOTIATIONS
However, according to a Vancouver newspaper report yesterday, secret negotiations have been reported between the operators and the union.

Union officials held here and in Vancouver declined comment, as did officials of the Labor Relations Board.

Lengthy sessions of the I.W.A. policy committee were held yesterday afternoon and evening in Vancouver.

The I.W.A. is supposedly awaiting word from the Labor Relations Board on the conducting of the strike vote for which the union asked.

The union originally requested that the vote be completed by next Saturday, September 10.

Board officials said they would attempt to complete arrangements by that date.

In order to come anywhere near meeting the proposed Saturday deadline, the board would have had to start taking the vote early this week at the very latest.

Tuesday, following week-end reports that strike ballots were in the mails, it was rumored that balloting had begun throughout the far-flung Coastal logging area.

FALSE REPORTS

These reports later proved false, but it was assumed that the vote was definitely going to be held sooner or later.

Yesterday, however, an official of the board in Vancouver, queried as to the progress of balloting arrangements, said only that there would be a formal announcement "if and when a strike vote is held."

Since, under British Columbia labor legislation, balloting must be conducted by the Government at Government expense if a strike vote is demanded by the union, the official's remark was interpreted to mean that union heads were considering withdrawing the demand for a vote.

Strong membership support of the I.W.A. policy committee's rejection of the conciliation report and the subsequent call for a strike vote indicated that the union was prepared to take strike action in order to secure some of its demands, if there was no other alternative.

Spoke to Tito

The mother of pretty 15-year-old Roberta Ann Smith, whose body was found floating in Thetis Lake last Saturday morning, still believes her daughter met with foul play.

The mother, Mrs. J. A. Smith, 3163 Gamma, maintains her opinion in the face of police statements that they have found no evidence, to prove it.

Mrs. Smith rejected any suggestion of suicide.

HAPPY GIRL
"She wasn't a wild girl," Mrs. Smith added. She said Roberta had had several boy friends, but no steady boy friend.

"If the lights was on, say at 10:30 at night, she would bring her boy friends in, to talk and have coffee."

Roberta had no reason to go out to Thetis Lake on her own, though she might have done so, Mrs. Smith said.

Voting October 24 Will Fill Eight Vacancies in Commons

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent tonight called a miniature general election for October 24 and sent three veteran Liberals to the Senate.

The by-elections will fill the eight vacancies that have occurred in the Commons since the June 27 general election.

One of them developed only today when Tom Reid, bagpipe-playing member for New Westminster and Parliamentary Assistant to Health Minister Martin, was appointed to the Senate.

The other new Senators are J. Wesley Stambaugh of Bruce, Alta., president of the Alberta Liberal Association and Robert William Gladstone of Guelph, Ont., former Liberal member for Wellington South.

FIVE IN QUEBEC
Five of the by-elections are in Quebec ridings—Montreal Laurier, Montreal Mercier, Montreal Jacques

Cartier, Kamouraska and Gatineau. The others are in Restigouche-Madawaska, a New Brunswick seat, Toronto Greenwood and New Westminster. Mr. Reid's old riding.

The Senate appointments give the Liberals 78 of the 102 seats in the Upper Chamber. Three of the vacancies are in Newfoundland, Nova Scotia and Ontario each have two vacant seats and there is one vacancy in British Columbia.

The Liberals hold 167 of the 262 Commons seats. There are 40 Progressive Conservatives, 12 C.C.F., ten Social Credit, four Independents, one Independent Liberal and eight vacancies.

Two of the by-elections were caused by the deaths of J. E. McMillin, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Greenwood and Benoit Michaud, Liberal member for Restigouche-Madawaska.

CAUSED BY APPOINTMENTS
The other vacancies were caused by the appointment of two Cabinet Ministers—Postmaster General Bertrand, member for Montreal Laurier and Solicitor-General Joseph Jean, member for Montreal Mercier—to Quebec judgeships. Also appointed judges in Quebec were Eugene Marquis, Liberal member for Kamouraska, and Eliehu Marier, Liberal member for Montreal Jacques Cartier.

The vacancy in Gatinéau resulted from the appointment of the Liberal member, Leon J. Raymond, as Clerk of the Commons.

The New Westminster by-election will be held the same date.

U.B.C.M. Backs Saanich On Compulsory Pensions

The U.B.C.M. convention yesterday endorsed a Saanich resolution asking the Provincial Government to press the Dominion Government to institute "at the earliest possible date" a Dominion-wide compulsory pension plan.

The resolution was passed during the opening sessions of the three-day convention as delegates began talking into a well-packed business agenda which includes some 80 resolutions dealing with the problems of municipal government.

The resolution asked that such a scheme make provision for persons who because of age cannot contribute sufficient to warrant receipt of a pension.

ALL PARTIES AGREE
Reeve E. C. Warren, of Saanich municipality, who called for passage of the resolution, declared that all major political parties during recent election campaigns had agreed that a compulsory old age pension plan should be introduced.

He declared that Canada was rapidly becoming "a country of those who have and those who have not."

In this regard he hit at the pension schemes introduced by Dominion and Provincial Governments and private concerns for their employees. Whether it was the Government or private concerns who had introduced these pension schemes, Reeve Warren declared that "the man on the street" was forced to contribute heavily to them.

ENDS MEANS TEST
Reeve Warren stated the belief that a contributory pension scheme introduced on a compulsory basis would do away with all means tests.

The convention also endorsed a resolution submitted by Esquimalt calling on the Dominion Government for payment in lieu of taxes on land and improvements which it holds within municipalities.

The convention ruled the resolution should be sent to the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities with the suggestion that

Joseph Manton Installed As Junior Chamber Head

Joseph Manton was installed as president of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce at an annual installation banquet held last night at the Club Sirocco. Also officially entered into office by Alderman D. D. McTavish, was Don Smith, vice-president. Mr. Manton succeeds Lou Williams.

The large crowd of junior chamber members and their wives were told by Alderman McTavish that the junior chamber was recognized as a leading organization within the city, and he expressed the hope it would bring to the City Council any matters in which the two groups might co-operate for the benefit of the community.

AT HEAD TABLE

Among those at the head table were Alderman Charles Banfield, Frank Goldworthy, mayor of North Vancouver and new head of the Junior Chamber of Commerce division in British Columbia; and Brent Murdoch, Victoria, immediate past president of the British Columbia branch.

Mr. Goldworthy, in a brief address to the assembly, remarked that members of the junior chamber should take an active interest in civic and national affairs, and suggested that city council and other

Call Tenders For Addition

Tenders for an addition to the King's Printer Building, estimated to cost $60,000, have been called by the Provincial Public Works Department.

The addition will be constructed of reinforced concrete in the same style as the present building. Tenders must be in the Public Works Department by noon, October 3.

Transfer of Some Students Planned To Meet Overcrowding in Schools

Despite the fact that eight additional classrooms are available in the Greater Victoria School District this term, overcrowding will necessitate the placing of large number of elementary pupils in classrooms which are not yet overcrowded. J. F. K. English, senior municipal inspector of schools declared last night.

"It may be necessary to use at least two additional classrooms, one in the James Bay area and one in Cedar Hill," he stated. "Fortunately space is available at these two points although it may be a few days before these rooms can be prepared."

SHORTAGE OF DESKS

Mr. English said there might also be some temporary shortage of desks.

"However, the situation can be handled and we would ask the parents to be as patient as possible during the next week or 10 days," he added.

He disclosed that the total school population now stands at 10,750 with still more students expected to enroll. The total includes 8,025 elementary students, 870 junior high school students and 2,155 high school students.

At September 14 last year the school population was 10,263, compared with 9,885 in 1947.

Mr. English said the greatest increase in enrolment of pupils occurred in Grade 1, where the estimate was exceeded by 100.

He said it was expected Vies Royal Elementary School would be ready for occupancy in January, 1950.

"This will offer some measure of relief in the western part of the school district, but the completion of Topaz Avenue Junior High School by September, 1950, will indeed be a boon to several elementary schools already badly overcrowded in the northern part of the district," Mr. English observed.

CROWDED DISTRICTS

"Those sections of the Greater Victoria School District which are badly overcrowded at the moment are Oaklands, Doncaster, Willows, Sir James Douglas, James Bay and Esquimalt," he explained. "These are all elementary schools."

"It is all too apparent that the building program sanctioned by the public in 1947 must be completed at the earliest possible date or we shall be obliged to resort to the shift system with all its accompanying difficulties and annoyances," he continued.

He said there was every indication that the growth in the elementary school enrolment would be steadily maintained at least until 1954 unless

To Recommend Appropriation For Clearing

Appropriation of $1,000 for removal of broom along Dallas Road from Cook Street to Clover Point will be recommended to the City Council at its next meeting, Ald. D. D. McTavish, parks committee chairman, said yesterday.

It is understood, however, that the committee is not sympathetic toward the requests of R. S. Porter and others for removal of trees along Dallas Road. The request was made on the ground that the trees obstructed the view of residents along Dallas Road.

MANY REQUESTS

Committee members noted that the city gets a large number of requests from persons all over the city for the trimming or removal of trees and to act on Dallas Road would be to create a precedent, which could prove troublesome.

For example, it is pointed out that requests for such action asked by one person and opposed by his neighbor, in addition the committee feels that it should not be required to remove or trim trees for the benefit of individual home owners.

Kiwanians Offer to Operate Safety Patrols in Oak Bay

The Kiwanis Club of Victoria has offered to institute and operate junior safety patrols in Oak Bay schools. Austin Curtis, club official, explained the patrols' function to the school board last night and pointed out the success of the scheme in other districts.

Council felt the scheme was satisfactory but referred the matter to the police commission. It was explained that the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club favors the Victoria club handling the scheme.

The Kiwanis Club is prepared to organize the patrols in such schools and for such crossings as appear necessary; to equip the patrols with uniform raincoats, rain hats, belts, flags, and badges and to be responsible for the maintenance of the equipment; to provide the printing, stationery, and forms for the operation of the patrols, and to provide the necessary incentives to keep the members of the patrols keen and active.

SEEK BY-LAW

The club asked the municipality to enact a by-law giving the necessary authority to the Kiwanis Junior Safety Patrol; to arrange for the services of a suitable police officer, either full or part-time to act as director of the patrols; to agree that the operation of the patrols and crosswalks within Oak Bay will be governed by the regulations of the Kiwanis Junior Safety Patrol; to appoint the reeve and chief constable to the advisory council of the safety patrol.

MAY DELETE CLAUSE

Deletion of a clause in Oak Bay's proposed sign by-law requiring annual painting of signs has been recommended by D. M. Gordon, municipal solicitor.

The solicitor felt the clause "too drastic" and doubted if it would stand up in court. It is understood the clause is contained in the Vancouver City sign by-law.

The by-law regulations cover all signs whether over private property or public highways.

BAND PRACTICE

First band practice for the Victoria Boys' Band will be held this Friday at 7 p.m. at 2701 Asquith Street. It is announced by Bandmaster C. H. Rowles.

A beginners' group will meet this Saturday morning, his announcement states, and a parents' meeting will be held on September 15 at 8 p.m. both at the Asquith Street address.

TO MEET IN VICTORIA

Victoria will be the scene of the next Pacific Northwest Zone of the Toastmasters' International convention, according to a report brought back from the recent gathering of the speakers organization in Seattle by district governor A. Sutton.

Mr. Sutton told last night's initial meeting of the latest toastmasters' unit here that much lobbying was done at the Seattle convention to have the next annual meeting held here.

Tribute was also paid at Seattle, he said, to the speakers courses held here last Spring under the sponsorship of local toastmaster clubs.

ATTEMPTED THEFT

An official of Tip Top Auto Sales, 1030 Yates Street, reported to city police yesterday that an attempt had been made to steal a used car from the firm's lot.

Investigation showed that the car's ignition wires had been tampered with.

BATTALION MEETING

Big Family Bound For Island

The Stansby family—mother, two daughters, housekeeper, four dogs and 30 goats—is moving lock, stock and barrel to Vancouver Island, the Canadian Press reports.

"They'll all sail from Glasgow in October aboard the motor vessel Salacia. Except for crew and cargo, they'll have the 7,100-ton ship to themselves."

The trip will cost Mrs. May Stansby, 48, more than $1,500 ($6,000) in fares. Near Victoria she hopes to set up a goat-milk business. "Since my husband's death in 1945 I've been learning to breed high-class goats," Mrs. Stansby said. "Mine are among the world's finest. But they are not appreciated here."

"Over the Atlantic goat's milk is in great demand. It's so health-giving. So I'm keeping my fingers crossed, hoping that my goats will really give of their best when they get there."

THE EVIL EYE

Abra-cadabra was a magical word used by the ancients as a spell to overthrow evil spirits.

FILLED TO CAPACITY

"The Central Junior High School has an enrolment of 870 and all the classes are filled to capacity," stated Mr. English. "No more pupils can be accepted. The high schools show a small decline in enrolment although it will only be a matter of a few years until these also are overflowing."

The construction of the proposed junior high schools at Topaz Avenue, Lansdowne, Oak Bay and New Central Junior High School will provide in a large measure the relief that is needed, Mr. English stated.

Welfare Group Serves Many

Community welfare services in Canada serve 40 per cent of the population, according to Mrs. R. J. Marshall, president of the National Council of Women.

Many of the Red Feather services supported by the Community Chest service supported in this way are social services for which the National Council of Women has sponsored and worked toward for years, said Mrs. Marshall.

RETURNS TO CITY

Twenty years is a long time—but "Sonny," who was the only child ever left on the doorstep of the British Columbia Protestant Orphanage in Victoria, has not forgotten.

"Sonny," who is now 24, returned to Victoria recently on a visit from New York. His arrival was quite an experience for Mrs. Ada Barber, matron of the home, who found him on the doorstep when he was two weeks old.

"I was so glad to see him and hear that he was doing so well," Mrs. Barber said.

Orphanage until 1920 and was then adopted by an American family. He was four years old when he left and had not been back since.

HAWAIIAN GROUP

A party of youthful Hawaiians, attracted no doubt in part by Victoria's tropical weather, visited this city on Labor Day and brought with them a friendly and musical greeting from the islands.

South Africa Takes a Backward Step

IT is easy enough to pontificate about a subject when it is one that does not worry the critic involved, and the racial problem in South Africa is a grave one, yet that country's announced aim of separating by card index its non-European citizens from close contact with those whom fate has given white skins will be viewed with uneasiness by all who sense that future world harmony hinges on tolerance and fair play. Relegation to an inferior status without vote of colored persons in the South African Union is an abrupt contradiction to the tendencies which are so marked a feature nowadays of the Commonwealth to which South Africa belongs.

This discriminatory step is also in violation of the concepts of the United Nations, in whose Assembly sits a representative of the Nationalist Government of Dr. Malan. If persisted in such tactics are apt to carry with them the seed of their own downfall, recollecting that the white man in South Africa is in a minority and that repression is outmoded as a philosophy through which to further the true interests of a nation. Difficult though the problems presented by a mixture of racial groups are, as in South Africa, outright segregation cannot but serve mainly to keep differences alive and prevent their reconciliation.

Instead of strengthening its hands in the struggle against Communism, as Dr. Malan asserts, backward legislation of this kind will invite the very danger feared by his Nationalist Government. Suppression of normal aspirations among its colored populace will provide a fertile field for the exploitation of their grievances, a role in which subversive elements unfortunately shine. In any case, "proof of race" is a poor base on which to build a national future, as the Nationalist Government of South Africa is likely to find out.

Victoria Host to Municipal Administrations

VICTORIA is honored to be host this week to 300 delegates attending the 46th annual convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities. Conventions are no new thing to this community, but seldom does one bring so many good British Columbians—those who are versed in almost every section of life in this province—to our midst. Here behind the facade of motion, resolution and debate, the cities, towns and villages of British Columbia will make up their minds as to what they want and how to get it during the next twelve months.

Municipal administrations everywhere are closer to the people than are the senior governments. Mayors and reeves and their respective councils have the public on their doorstep. They were a steady influence in British Columbia during the hard years of the war, as today they are a useful and necessary check on the neglects and omissions of the senior governing bodies of this country. Problems and disagreements they will always have, but this ability to meet and thresh-out the ultimate wisdom is the saving grace of the municipal system, with all of its faults.

When the Union of British Columbia Municipalities speaks unanimously governments listen. This time, one supposes, there will be as many difficulties on the order paper as are customary, perhaps more with inflation at its uncertain peak. None the less within the lines of what is possible there are remedies to be found for these civic perplexities which are shared in common, while the convention itself is the best of sounding boards for governments who wish to keep posted on the day-to-day problems on the plane where most citizens have to live.

A successful convention in pleasant surroundings will be Victoria's wish for the visitors.

Dr. Garnett G. Sedgewick Had Brilliant Career

THE passing on Saturday of Dr. Garnett G. Sedgewick, professor emeritus in the Faculty of English at the University of British Columbia, removes an outstanding Canadian whose brilliant intellectual attainments were known throughout the continent and much farther afield. Born in Nova Scotia, Dr. Sedgewick enjoyed a meteoric and scholarly career in Canadian and American universities, before devoting much of his life to the success of the Department of English at the Point Grey institution.

His kindly manner and deep learning through the years made an indelible mark on the University of British Columbia, and there have been few members of the several faculties who have enjoyed for so long and so continuously the respect and admiration of student and teaching bodies alike that were his. In his own field, English Letters, Dr. Sedgewick contributed a considerable volume of seasoned comment which will remain to his credit. His lovable, human qualities, however, will be those for which he will be most widely remembered, and missed.

COMMUTERS' PASS

Sir,—The published statement that the weekly bus pass purchased by reason of economy, is being abused to an extent that passengers are riding at an average cost of 4 cents per ride, falsely suggests that 2,400 responsible pass users, male and female, are joy-riding like a bunch of children.

This is no sound or reasonable excuse for abolishing the weekly pass and should be resisted as such.

W. L. STEVENSON.

2755 Belmont Avenue, Victoria, B.C.

BUS TRANSFERS

Sir,—I see the question of bus fares is coming to the fore. If it is necessary to end the weekly passes (a step which I, for one, should certainly deplore), would it not be possible to compensate in a small way for this deprivation by allowing a much longer period in between the transfers? In that way passengers could have a reasonable time in town for shopping, etc.

F. V. C. SERJEANT.

PROPPING INFLATION

Sir,—Sorry to take exception to your editorial view (August 30) that "Stopping Work Seldom Cures Anything." Actually, it proves to the work-stopper sooner or later that stopping work means hunger, a cure for many human infirmities. Many British Columbians, especially those of the older and wiser generation, will take a contrary view of the loggers' threat. These will say: "Let 'em strike!"

The point is that, with the help of the Federal Government in propping food and therefore commodity prices, aided and abetted by employers and wage earners, the existing unhealthy condition of inflation is maintained at the expense of public welfare and foreign trade. Ottawa, in this, as in other regrettable instances, is merely following the Washington policy which is to maintain fictitious values at all costs for as long as possible.

The so-called "high standard of living" in Canada and the United States, is due to the favorable balance of trade and had it not been for the Marshall aid prop, this long ago would have sagged and tumbled down. This means of maintaining high prices and wages cannot be indefinitely extended, and the longer it lasts the harder will be the tumble when it ends.

Loggers, like all other workers contributing to the cost of building homes, obviously are getting more than their share of the national income, because the cost of the homes exceeds the buying capacity of the citizen. The idea, chiefly of opportunist politicians, that this can be overcome by subsidies merely means taxing the public to uphold the excessive wages of the lumber and building trades.

It may be that a general slump and a period of unemployment is the only condition that will end the ceaseless propping of inflation, and if so the sooner the operation is undertaken the less painful will be the result.

A. V. WATTS.

Sooke, B.C.

HEALTH INSURANCE

Sir,—Noting the letter of R. J. Pring under heading "Uneven Stephen," in The Colonist, may I be permitted to strongly endorse same?

Why, indeed, should childless couples, or those like ourselves, now old, with grown-up families no longer in this country, be discriminated against by the raising of hospital insurance premiums?

One can only suppose the younger people are in the majority and command more votes.

The "baby bonus" went into effect instantly, and with no strings attached. The old age pensioners must undergo a means test and every possible humiliation besides.

Not so many of them to vote, eh?

S. C. BEESON.

R.R. 2, Duncan, B.C.

He put his ardent helmet on:
It was plumed with the silk of the thistle-down:

The corset plate that guarded his breast
Was once the wild bee's golden vest:
His cloak, of a thousand mingled dyes,
Was formed of the wings of butterflies:
His shield was the shell of a lady-bug queen,
Studded of gold on a ground of green:
And the quivering lance which he brandished
Bright,

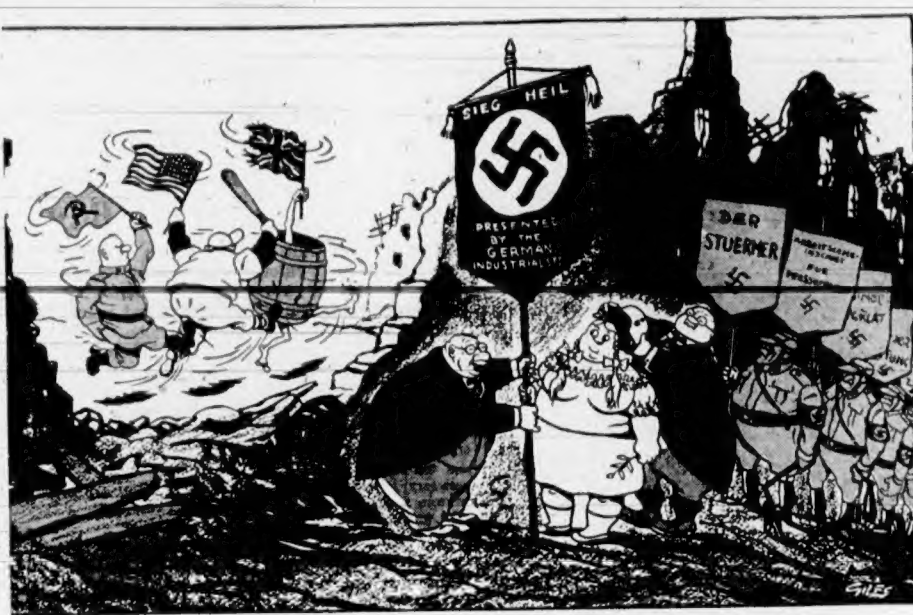

Was the sting of a wasp he has slain in fight.

Swift he bestrode his fire-fly steed,
He bared his blade of the bent-grass blue,
He drove his spurs of the cockle-seed,
And away like a glance of thought he flew,
To shim the heavens, and follow far
The fiery trail of the rocket-star.

Thinking Aloud

of shoes—and ships—and sealing was—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THERE is, it would appear, an unsuspected danger connected with television. Not in relation to the fare offered for amusement, however, although that, too, may have its drawbacks if some alleged radio comedians transfer their allegiance.

No, the peril has to do with posture, according to The Hamilton Spectator. Seemingly an authority on bone structure has come out with a warning—television fans may develop what he calls "telesquat" and "telecrane" spinal ailments.

You can guess the nature of the disease from the word coinage, but put directly here is what he means.

If you sit in a slumped position on the edge of your chair and gaze for long periods at a small screen you are doing the "telesquat." You are doing more than that, though, adds the bone man. You are forcing the base of your spine to bear most of your weight. And that's bad.

Because you can bring on low back-aches and other disturbances.

Likewise when you "telecrane." This is when you become enthralled, fixate in a forward bent position, stretching your neck vertebrae. If you persist in this position, says the bone man, you'll have severe pains in the neck, maybe a headache, and certainly some eye-strain.

The thing to do, I suggest, is to imitate grandmother.

You won't find her lounging like a lizard on a sofa or in an easy chair. No, indeed, and that's because she's akin to the primitives.

You see, in primitive households dignity, not comfort, is associated with chairs or benches. The higher the rank the higher the elevation. As a result witch-doctors and chiefs have stools, and lesser folk just sit on their haunches on grass mats.

The aprawl, such as the bone man warns you against, is a modern innovation.

Grandmother, now, knowing her position in the household, sits like a chief, upright and prim. Progress has inverted the order somewhat—the stool, for instance, may be assigned to junior as a mark of lowly status, and so grandma has to have a chair.

That is her only concession to spinal aids, however. She sits on the edge, usually, not in a "telesquat" but like an old soldier, bless her. And there's nothing the matter with her spine, as you know.

Somehow I'm sure that even if she becomes a television fan she'll never be found slumped in a chair. Take a look at her the next time you go to church, if you do there as Mr. Churchill hopes, if you do. She's easily the most alert person in her pew.

I've a notion the bone man could have uttered his warning long before television was invented, or even radio.

The human spine began to slop when the easy chair was invented. Pay a visit to an antique shop and gaze at an old-fashioned period chair. You couldn't lounge in it even if you tried.

The radio has exaggerated the trend, no doubt. I know that when I listen in I'm fitted into a chair whose contours are moulded exactly to suit my own. And it's delightful; I hate to think the bone man's warning would apply in my case.

Spines, I would rather conclude, may be more pliable than posture experts think. I don't know how many Victorians own television sets. Judging by the number of visible aerials, not many, so it may be a long-time before "telesquat" or "telecrane" assume epidemic proportions here.

But if you have a hankering to become a television fan, remember what the bone man says. Be a spartan and spare your spine. Sit cross-legged on the rug, or push junior off the stool and pretend you're a primitive chief. Put on a pair of dark glasses and coddle your neck vertebrae.

Better still, if you have a grandma in the house watch how she copes with this unsuspected danger. Follow her lead and you'll be safe.

Germany in Postwar Europe

Seventh in a series of articles specially written for The Colonist by a Vancouver Island man recently returned from Germany, where he spent several years in the service of British Intelligence.

By DOUGLAS MORRIS

OF all the problems facing the control authorities who have carried out the occupation policy in Germany, that of feeding, housing and dispersing the million odd refugees has presented the greatest difficulty.

Coming from the four corners of Central Europe, they were originally made up of homeless hordes who had escaped when the Nazi war machine first rolled into Poland and Czechoslovakia; camp followers of the victorious Wehrmacht both during its advance and retreat; impressed slave labor from the Eastern countries to the famous organization "Todt" which slaved on the autobahnen and in the war factories of the German army; a fair sprinkling of Jews who had survived the gas chambers of Auschwitz; a far greater number of German political prisoners who were released by the Allies, in their swift advance across the German Reich, from the confines of places like Buchenwald, Bergen, Belsen, Dachau, and many others.

Add to that the homeless Polish Army, the Yugoslav Army, together with thousands of escaping prisoners of war, bombed-out civilians and refugee children in want of food, shelter and hospitalization, and one can but marvel at the accomplishments of the organizations concerned in restoring order out of the chaos that existed; at the same time understanding the fertile field that existed for the exploitation of that struggling mass of humanity by every agency, political, economic, and relief, that has since early 1945 engaged in practices which have shocked all those honest individuals who have ever been involved in anything to do with refugee administration.

The sorting out was a difficult period, and the country was quickly overrun with repatriation-missions from every country in Europe whose representatives were either looking for war criminals, collaborators, or lost relatives. Some of the wisest individuals wasted no time in either getting out of the country, or losing their identity in a refugee camp, by claiming a new nationality with forged or stolen documents. Many a charming female of doubtful nationality related ghastly stories of concentration camp treatment at the hands of her captors, when later it transpired on investigation that having become a camp follower during the early days of occupation in the Low Countries, she was now seeking refuge in the land of her adoption because of the fate that awaited her as a collaborator should she return to the land of her birth.

For the same reason many thousands who could have opted for repatriation to their native land have refused; labeled themselves as political refugees and become a drudge on charitable groups which throughout the world continue to flourish on funds provided by organizations whose activities in Europe have been very questionable.

The potential fifth column which this migrating horde of travelers presented had to be experienced to be believed, and it is no exaggeration to say that their ranks have been well and truly infiltrated prior to their dispersal. Today so-called political refugees continue to cross the international boundary from East to West, and while it is next to impossible to make a check and investigate their individual stories, it is often obvious that their documents are forgeries, and a most carefully planned route is being followed. Financial control of currency is very strictly enforced in Germany today, and a political refugee feeling from a satellite country does not normally travel with a lot of cash which is negotiable in either sterling or the dollar areas. However it is not uncommon to read in the press that a few hundred political refugees have arrived in Montreal with a bank balance of five hundred dollars each, which will prove that they are not dependent on the economy of the country. Being technical workers, they have been given privileged admission.

The ramifications of the refugee cum displaced persons problem in Europe since the last war have never been truly presented to the outside world. First and most important refugee organization in the field was U.N.R.R.A. (United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Association) which name disappeared under a dirty cloud when General Sir Frederick Morgan, its chief director of operations in Germany, resigned after making some very specific charges concerning the illegalities of many of that organization's activities in Germany, a viewpoint which incidentally was shared by many persons who came within its sphere of operations in the field. Most of its officials were of Jewish nationality, many of whom had unlimited facilities for touring the world, obtaining visas and permits, crossing closed frontiers, and securing luxury priorities with an immunity and ease that many an ambassador would envy. Forty-five nations of the world are known to contribute a sum of approximately 900 millions a year to the support of this body in its work of administering the welfare of suffering humanity. In Germany there was ample evidence that many of its activities were channeled in a direction completely foreign to the cause of humanity.

After the Morgan expose, the name was changed to I.R.O., the International Refugee Organization; but the majority of its personnel remained in the new administration, whose activities have varied little from those of its predecessor. The worst feature of such organizations in Germany has been their ability, through having control of enormous quantities of food and clothing, to not only encourage the black market but to practically control it. Stories of the lost legion of "Belsen" are commonly written by visiting correspondents, who paint a picture of the misery of life that is present 5,000 Jewish inmates are suffering. They do not reveal to the world that they are living off the rations supplied by I.R.O., rations that would make a family in England today gasp in amazement. Selling their excess rations plus the coffee and cigarettes freely allowed into them, but not to any other indigenous resident of Germany, eight or nine of them have, since the hell ship episode of 1947, and by their combined efforts on the black market, become millionaires.

Observation Car: By G. B.

A POLISH woman who recently moved to Victoria mentioned in conversation to a new friend that she had parted company with her husband because he was a Communist. "What do you think of the Communists?" the friend inquired. "A Communist is a shirker on the back of the worker," the Polish woman replied. . . . Tellers in a Government Street bank wished they each had four hands during a heavy rush of business on a burning hot afternoon last week. There were 11 persons lined up at one wicket 15 minutes before the establishment was due to close. The line was headed by a fussy woman who had a large number of cheques to deposit. "I hope she gets through before 3 p.m.," a man at the end of the queue remarked. "It looks like a case of check and double check," a customer in front of him chuckled. The harassed girl teller found the woman had neglected to endorse some of the cheques, and several others did not bear stamps. In spite of inconvenience, the teller managed to preserve a sweet smile. The man at the end of the line whispered to the one in front of him: "If it had been me, I would have told off that old bag." . . . Occasionally Bill, the Broad Street barber, meets a customer with a chip on his shoulder. When one such individual slouched into the shop last week, Bill inquired: "Hair-cut, sir?" As he slumped into the chair, the man retorted: "Oh, no. I just dropped in to hear you talk." . . . One of the tragedies of life is the murder of a beautiful theory by a gang of brutal facts. . . . When two women get together they often talk about who, how, why, when and wear. . . . Ralph Waldo Emerson wrote: "The office of the scholar is to cheer, to raise and to guide men by showing them facts amid appearances."

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

I READ detective stories," confessed a prominent doctor, "on going to bed, in place of phenobarbital."

So many famous men have declared themselves addicted to detective stories that a man might think twice before publicly admitting that detective stories bore him stiff. But they do so. If I couldn't sleep at night, I would prefer phenobarbital capsules—those glossy little scarlet or blue pellets—to reading a detective story. But thank goodness, whenever I lie in a horizontal position and relax, I go to sleep as automatically as a Mamma doll closes its eyes. What on earth can keep a man awake once he has got into the position of sleeping is something I have never been able to conceive. After all, a man has to keep his brain where it belongs: a servant, not a master. When I say "Sleep!" the ruddy things roll over and goes with me. But I suppose there are people with spoiled brats of brains just as some people have spoiled brats of children. They've probably coddled their brains.

And reading detective stories seems to me to be one of the silliest ways of coddling your brains. When I was a young fellow, Sherlock Holmes was just at his peak; and I was one of those who lined up at the corner stationery store to buy the newly arrived Strand Magazine from England, with the latest installment of "The Hound of the Baskervilles" or "The Sign of the Four." You had to wait a month between developments of the mystery. Real crime is never solved between 11:30 p.m., when you go to bed, and 1:20 a.m., when, mystery solved, you groan, roll over and reach for the phenobarbital.

I like a murder that takes six weeks, six months or six years to solve. It always miffs me to read the headlines of a horrible murder, and on the same page to find a picture of the fat murderer being led, handcuffed, into the police station. To sleep sound, you have to have a brain that doesn't care whether murder is solved or not.

25 YEARS AGO—Retail prices: Pork, 16 cents a pound; No. 1 beef, 18½ cents; lamb, 28 cents; veal, 14 cents; hams, 27 cents; butter, 40 to 48 cents; eggs, 40 to 48 cents a dozen.

50 YEARS AGO—Off-hand riding is a growing practice among young bicyclists desirous of showing their skill, and the council has passed a by-law especially forbidding it.

85 YEARS AGO—We were pleased to recognize among the passengers on board the Enterprise the jolly, rubicund countenance of Mayer Harris . . . returning from a tour through British Columbia and Cariboo.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

There are times when we think the world was made primarily for fish and pessimists. It is three-fourths water and at least seven-tenths trouble.

A slow motion camera shows that it takes 1-40th of a second to wink your eye, and four hours to explain to your wife why you did it.

She—I told him he mustn't see me any more.
He—And what did he do?
She—He turned the lights out.

Fat men have the best of it—they bounce.

"Oua," said Bill, as he caught up with the guide on the way back to camp, "are all the rest of the hunters out of the woods yet?"

"Yes," said Oua.
"All six of them?"

"Yes, all six of them."
"And are they all safe?"
"Yes," answered Oua, "they're all safe."

"Then," said Bill, his chest swelling, "I've shot a deer."

It is the willing horses that develop muscles.

World's Largest Civil Land Plane Airborne

Britain's Brabazon, world's largest civil land plane, was airborne over Bristol, England, last week, and it is shown making its first successful 27-minute flight. Eight-engine silver giant, capable of carrying 120 passengers non-stop between London and New York, has wing span of 230 feet, its fuselage length is 177 feet, and rudder juts 50 feet above the ground.

Oil Development in Edmonton Area Said One of Top Factors in Defence

EDMONTON, Sept. 7 (CP)—Edmonton area oil discoveries and development are "top factors in North American defence," the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff declared in an interview here today while their plane was being refueled for completion of a flight to Alaska on a ten-day inspection tour.

"There just can't be too much oil discovered in North America, no matter what the domestic operators say," said Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Chief of Staff, U.S. Air Force, "and this time you Canadians have found it right where it can be of most use."

Importance of the oil strikes in the Edmonton area was echoed by

Huge Airliner Unable to Fly In U.K. Show

FARNBOROUGH, Hampshire, England, Sept. 7 (Reuters)—Technical adjustments after her second successful flight this morning prevented the world's largest civil land plane, the 130-ton Brabazon I, from flying today at Britain's exhibition of 56 of her latest aircraft.

After her 2½-hour flight this morning in the Bristol area, it had been announced that the Brabazon would make a "ground check" to the first day of the Society of British Aircraft Constructors' show at Farnborough, where it was to be displayed.

ROAD JAMMED

So great was the interest in the display, reserved for 6,000 invited air-line operators and technicians from 50 countries, that the road leading to Farnborough Airport was jammed for two miles with motor cars.

Russian air attaches were among members of the diplomatic corps who watched the acrobatics of Britain's first jet bomber and three latest jet fighters, just released from the secret list. On the ground the planes were roped off and could not be inspected closely.

With them in the air display was the 800-mile-an-hour De Havilland Comet, the world's fastest air liner. Most prominent among service chiefs and civil air enterprises from all parts of the world were a large number of Americans, including executives of domestic air lines making a close inspection of what Britain might have to sell in the next few years.

An American official commented: "You have some wonderful planes and it has been perfectionist piloting; you have to have a lot of confidence in your planes to do what I saw your pilots do today."

Remove Killer To Institution

CAMDEN, N.J., Sept. 7 (INS)—Howard B. Unruh, ex-GI who stalked a busy Camden street and killed 18 persons with a smoking German luger pistol, was removed today to the New Jersey State Mental Hospital at Trenton.

District Attorney Mitchell H. Cohen said the Bible-quoting Unruh was taken to the mental institution "for observation and study" at his own wish.

Cohen, when asked about the possibility that Unruh was moved out of Cooper Hospital in Camden for Unruh's own protection, said: "I was aware of reports of possible violence."

The District Attorney denied, however, that his action was taken because of this, saying: "My action was brought about solely because I could not arraign him for several weeks."

Dollar Talk Results May Decide Elections

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

International observers are watching the three-power economic conference in Washington closely for its effect on the domestic political situation.

The results might very well determine both the date and the outcome of forthcoming elections.

The five-year term of the Socialist Government is up next July. Before then a general election, expected to be close and bitter, will have to be held. May has been the expected time, but the Government can call it at will.

The issue is whether the country will continue under Socialism, with its highly concentrated state controls and growing government ownership of basic industries, or whether this trend will be stopped by a return of the Conservatives to power.

STRONG RESURGENCE

Regional elections, although affected by many inescapable factors other than national policy, have indicated a strong Conservative resurgence since Winston Churchill's Government was voted out in 1945. But the Labor Party has maintained an unbroken front whenever Parliamentary vacancies had to be filled. This has led political observers to believe that the election would be no closer as to be decided by conditions at the time.

If Britain continues on the downgrade, the Labor position will become more and more precarious. But if things look up as a result of the Washington conferences, time may be taken to let the non-terms work.

One consideration is that, so far, the dollar shortage is primarily a Government problem, rather than something affecting the British people personally. With the pound pegged, British businessmen operating normally within the sterling area, doing as well as if they were selling for dollars, and British wage earners buy at standard levels. The Government's effort to get them to enter the fight for dollars hasn't taken much hold. It is one of the big problems.

ANOTHER STORY

When dollars become so scarce that Britain cannot buy from the United States and Canada the food and raw materials which she cannot get from the sterling area, then there will be another story.

These things have aroused specu-

Man Wins In Fight With Bear

MATTAWA, Ont., Sept. 7 (CP)—A young farmer's story of a desperate fight with a huge black bear that attacked him in the bush and almost killed him came to light today.

Sunday afternoon Fernand Therrien, 21, who lives on a farm seven miles east of here, staggered into his father's farmhouse bruised and bleeding and carrying a shattered 22 rifle, to tell how he fought off the bear for nearly half an hour.

Young Therrien said he was walking through the woods in the back pasture when the bear surprised him while feeding, jumped on him. Therrien adestepped the bear's first rush and hit him on the head with his rifle barrel. Then he fired a shot into the back of the bear's head.

BEAR MADDENED

Maddened, the wounded animal turned and leaped at the man again. Therrien struck the bear across the head a second time but the rifle broke and the splintered stock fell loose from the barrel.

Therrien bent over to pick up the pieces of his rifle, an almost fatal mistake. The bear swung his paw and the man ducked too late. The blow staggered Therrien and the animal pounced on him. Together they rolled through the brush and into a small gully. Therrien regained his feet and stood to meet the animal's rushes.

Each time the bear charged at him Therrien managed to clout it with the gun barrel and stock held in either hand.

LEG BITTEN

"Many times he tried to grab me with his teeth," Therrien said later. "He got me once by the leg and pulled off a piece of flesh." Finally he left the bear stretched out on the ground. Exhausted, Therrien managed to make his way to the home of his father, where he nearly collapsed.

Although the Government in general is averse to increasing long-term dollar commitments, "there are various possible sources of dollar borrowing and the matter will be decided in the light of circumstances," Chifley said.

The Prime Minister said the budget anticipates a record expenditure of $541,000,000 ($1,758,250,000) compared with actual expenditure of $535,000,000 in 1948-49. Revenues are estimated at $532,000,000.

Chifley said the Government would make a further grant of $10,000,000 to the United Kingdom and additional payments to Australian states which would bring the total expenditure to $547,000,000. He said a deficit of $15,000,000 would be financed by loans.

Says Australia May Seek Dollar Loan
CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 7 (CP)—Prime Minister J. B. Chifley told the House of Representatives today Australia is examining the possibility of seeking a dollar loan.

In a budget speech, the Prime Minister said that because of its outstanding commitments, the Government would not be able to achieve a full 25 per cent cut in dollar imports this year, as proposed at the London Commonwealth conference.

Deputy Minister Named For Works Department

E. S. Jones, chief maintenance engineer, has been appointed deputy minister in the Provincial Public Works Department. It was announced yesterday by Works Minister E. C. Carson.

He replaces N. W. Macpherson, who died recently.

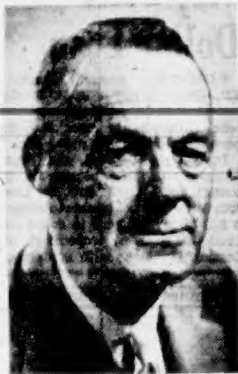

Educated in England, Mr. Jones came to Canada in 1908 and worked on land survey work, railway location and construction until 1916, when he joined the army. He served overseas from 1916 to 1918 with the Fifth Canadian Siege Battery.

WORKED ON SURVEYS

On his return from overseas he was employed on railway location surveys until 1921, when he joined the Department of Public Works. From 1922 to 1923 he was resident engineer on construction of the Oliver-Osoyoos Road.

He was appointed to the permanent staff as assistant district engineer in charge of the North Okanagan district in 1923. In 1925 he was promoted to district engineer for the Cariboo district and served as district engineer subsequently in Kamloops, Cranbrook and New Westminster.

Mr. Carson commented on his

fine record of service in organizing and directing work during and after the Fraser River flood of 1948.

Last year he was appointed engineer in charge of maintenance of highways throughout the province and a member of the highway board.

Compulsory Pensions Scheme Backed by U.B.C.M. Delegates

An application was made to Federal Government authorities.

Reeve A. J. Thomas of Esquimalt declared that his municipality received nothing from the Dominion Government for the services it provides government properties.

Councillor A. C. Wurtelle of Esquimalt said that his small municipality should not be burdened with the cost of the services "which we have to provide."

A Victoria resolution asking for amendment to the Municipal Act providing for changes in indemnities paid elected municipal officials was approved by the convention.

If the resolution is acted on by the Provincial Government, the mayor or reeve of municipalities with a population of 40,000 or more will receive an annual salary of $8,000, while aldermen or councillors will receive $1,200, mayors or Reeves of municipalities with a population ranging between 20,000 and 40,000 will receive $4,000, aldermen and councillors, $1,000; mayor or reeve of a municipality with a population of less than 20,000 will receive $2,000, aldermen or councillors, $500.

Alderman Harold Diggon, of Victoria, said that the Victoria council was more active now than it was 10 or 12 years ago because the increasing population had thrust additional burdens on the shoulders of elected officials.

A resolution submitted by the Association of Kootenay Municipalities asking that permissive legislation be sought to allow property owners to be placed on a separate voters' list from householders and licence holders received the support of the convention.

The convention passed an Esquimalt resolution urging the Provincial Government to establish an assessment commission.

A further Esquimalt resolution asking for income tax exemption on remuneration received by elected municipal representatives received convention support.

The convention endorsed a Kelowna resolution calling for an amendment to the Town Planning Act which would give municipalities the power to protect the approaches to airports.

A resolution submitted by Port Alberni asking for an amendment to the Public Health Act to provide for uniform health by-laws to cover the entire area served by a union board of health was withdrawn when it was pointed out that this power is already held by municipalities through passage of concurrent by-laws.

A Port-Alberni resolution seeking the transfer of dairy grading duties from the Department of Agriculture to the Department of Health was defeated.

A resolution submitted by Nanaimo seeking the power to regulate the street use of advertising handbills, circulars and cards was defeated.

G. A. King, Mission, declared that the passage of such a resolution might prohibit street sales of newspapers. He said the resolution in effect would clamp police censorship on an age-old right.

Mayor George Muir, of Nanaimo, declared that only regulatory powers, not prohibitive powers were being sought.

R.C.N Destroyer Undergoing Refit

With conversion and refit of destroyer H.M.C.S. Sioux now well under way, many and varied are interesting scenes to be found about warship. Suitably garbed for occasion, A. Chastell is seen applying asbestos fibre insulation in main deck quarters of ship. Insulation is applied by means of an air hose and special nozzle. Later, asbestos will be covered with smooth, plastic-type material.

City Girl Drowning Victim Doctor Tells Coroner's Jury

Robert A. Smith, 18, 3136 Gamma Street, died from drowning, Dr. Ross McNeely, Royal Jubilee Hospital pathologist, told a coroner's jury under Dr. E. C. Hart, at Sands Mortuary yesterday morning.

The inquest was adjourned until 9 a.m. next Tuesday after the body had been viewed by the jury and identified by a friend, Carl McLeod Allison.

Three Victoria sailors, J. O. Ross, Chief Stoker William Thorne and Petty Officer Reginald Rimmer, found the young telephone operator's body floating in Thetis Lake on Saturday morning.

FUNERAL HELD
The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from Sands Mortuary, with cremation at Royal Oak. Still awaited is the Provincial Analyst's report on the contents of the girl's stomach.

"I found that this woman died of drowning," said Dr. McNeely, who performed an autopsy at 11 a.m. on Saturday. "She was alive when in the water, and died of drowning."

Asked by the coroner whether there were any injuries, the doctor replied: "One was negligible, it was a scratch on the right arm. A scratch on the right arm and the upper lip was bruised."

He said there was no evidence of any disease. The stomach contained a quantity of undigested food, mixed with water.

Sgt. O. L. Hall, Provincial Police, asked how long the girl had been dead.

DEATH TIME INDICATED
Dr. McNeely replied that the appearance of the organs indicated that death had taken place less than 12 or 14 hours before his examination at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Miss Smith probably died three or four hours after eating, he said.

Death probably took place later than 6 or 7 p.m. Dr. McNeely could not state how late it was. It might have been as late as midnight.

Sgt. Hall asked whether or not Miss Smith was unconscious when she entered the water.

"I can't say. I would say she was breathing when she went into the water."

Land Revenues Show Increase Over Last Year

City lands department revenues for the first seven months of the year show an increase over last year but sales of reverted property are down, Ald. D. D. McTavish, lands committee chairman, said yesterday.

Revenues up to the end of August were $94,198 as against $77,554 for the same period of 1948. For the same period 259 parcels of reverted lands were sold for $35,942 as against 191 parcels for $46,959 for the first seven months of last year.

LOTS TO C.M.B.C.
Included in the sales this year were 150 lots which went to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at $1 each.

Increase in revenues is accounted for mainly by sales of city-owned property not coming under the category of reverted lands. These include sale of a portion of the grounds of the Agassiz House which brought in $17,877. Also included was the sale of the Yates Street yard.

Rapid Progress Made On Destroyer Refit

Marine News

Late last March Yarrows Ltd. was awarded a major contract involving the complete modernization and refit of the destroyer H.M.C.S. Sioux.

Work on the project commenced early in April at the Yarrows plant, and is to be paid off into the reserve and has been progressing rapidly. The Athabaskan will undergo conversion that date. No publicity has been given to the conversion job to this date, but yesterday The Daily Colonist—through special permission from the Royal Canadian Navy and officials of the shipyard—was allowed to visit the warship and take photographs.

The 1,700-ton "V"-class destroyer has been in the Esquimalt drydock for the past three days. She will be there at least another two weeks. Her location in the basin is a scene of intense activity. Approximately 200 men are employed in modernizing the vessel.

TONS OF EQUIPMENT
Literally tons of equipment are by or aboard the craft. Tons of sand have been used to sand-blast her entire hull prior to a new paint job. Accommodation for the men who will sail her is being brought up-to-date in a very definite way. In the future the ship's complement will sleep in berths, and not hammocks.

In the words of a shipyard official, she is being standardized along American lines. "Special attention is being given to comforts of the men who will serve with the destroyer. Recreational facilities aboard the vessel are also being incorporated, in addition to a 'cafeteria style' mess room, and a soda fountain."

SOME SECRECY
A veil of secrecy has been kept about certain phases of the ship's conversion, but R.C.N. officers say she is to be fitted with "the very latest" in anti-submarine equipment. No details have been, or will be, released about this particular aspect.

According to present schedule, the Sioux refit and conversion will be completed by the first week of next year. The job is a big one, and estimated to cost about $1,000,000. H.M.C.S. Sioux was built in Great Britain, and was originally to have been named Viceroy, and was to have served with the Royal Navy. Before her commissioning in 1944, however, the ship was transferred to the Royal Canadian Navy, and under went the name change. During the war years she served in the English Channel and off the shores of Norway. She had a designed speed of 34 knots.

It is expected that the Sioux will return to active commission almost immediately after completion of her conversion.

It is also expected that the destroyer will be the first of a new class of destroyers to be built for the R.C.N. The new class is being designed to meet the needs of the R.C.N. in the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans.

The new class of destroyers will be built to a design which is a development of the design of the H.M.C.S. Sioux. The new class will be built to a design which is a development of the design of the H.M.C.S. Sioux.

Fresh Vegetables Need Careful Preparation

An abundant supply of fresh vegetables can flood your table these days but don't let the abundance lead you into careless treatment of them. Fresh vegetables must be treated as the most delicate of foods if you're to have them at their best. When you're buying, choose fresh vegetables that are firm and crisp. Buy only one or two days' supply at a time. It saves waste and food value.

Wash and clean all vegetables as soon as they come from the market. Remember what one rotten apple can do to a barrel? One little rust spot can be just as infectious to head of lettuce.

Deviled Tomatoes—A good variation of old-fashioned fried tomatoes, these have a crisp tangy coating.

Stuffed Vegetables—A hearty entree and a good disguise for leftover meats.

Cabbage and Tomato Scallop—Fancy treatment for a budget vegetable.

Carrot Patties—These can be used as a very satisfactory meat substitute.

Time for Pickle Making

Today, as yesterday, the home-maker takes special pride in the pickles or relishes she has prepared herself. Time spent in pickle making now will reap rewards next winter when rows of jars gleam on storeroom shelves.

The tools for the art of pickle making are: Firm, fresh vegetables and fruits; enamel, aluminum or stainless steel cooking utensils; clean glass jars, sealers or corks for storing.

Spices should be used with wisdom and care. A dark color or bitter flavor may result from using too much spice or from boiling the spices too long with the vinegar.

A good quality pickling vinegar is a "must" in pickle making. Soft pickles will result from vinegar that is too weak. Colder and blander vinegars have good flavor but white, spirit vinegars give better color where light-colored foods such as onions, cauliflower or pears are used.

Chill sauce is a relish that is popular with most families and recently the home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, were experimenting with various methods of making this pickle. One that was tested was called Uncooked Chili Sauce and, as the name suggests, is really an uncooked pickle.

A second type of chili sauce that was made in Canada's Kitchen was that which may be cooked either on top of the stove or in the oven. The latter method will be appreciated by most housewives since the sauce is out of the way and very little stirring is required except during the last hour of cooking. For making the full recipe, the home economists used an enamel roaster (9 x 15 inches) and the raw mixture was 3 inches deep. By the time the sauce was finished, the volume had decreased and the mixture was about 1 inch deep. The whole recipe yielded about 4 pints sauce.

OVEN CHILI SAUCE

- 1 lb. tomatoes (about 35 medium)
- 2 medium onions (2 1/2 cups chopped)

- 2 sweet red peppers (1/2 cup chopped)
- 3 cups diced celery (1 1/2")
- 1 1/2 sticks cinnamon (4")
- 1 1/2 teaspoons whole cloves
- 1 1/2 teaspoons whole allspice
- 1 small, dried chili pepper
- 1 1/2 teaspoons nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger
- 1 1/2 tablespoons salt
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 3 cups vinegar

Peel tomatoes and chop coarsely. Put onions and sweet red peppers through the food chopper using the coarse blade. The stick cinnamon, cloves, allspice and small chili pepper in a cheesecloth bag. Combine all ingredients in a wide, shallow pan, such as a roaster. Bring to boil on top of stove, then place in a slow oven, 300 degrees F., and cook until thick, about 3 to 3 1/2 hours. Stir occasionally during the last hour of cooking. Remove spice bag and pour into hot, sterilized jars and seal. Store in a cool, dry place. Yield: about 4 pint sealers.

If desired, this chili sauce may be cooked slowly on top of the stove for about two hours.

UNCOOKED CHILI SAUCE

- 8 lb. tomatoes (about 34 large tomatoes)
- 2 large white onions (2 1/2 cups thinly sliced)
- 1 cup cut celery
- 2 large sweet red peppers (1 1/2 cups sliced)
- 2 large sweet green peppers (2 cups sliced)
- 2 cups vinegar
- 2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup coarse salt
- 1 tablespoon mustard seed
- 1 tablespoon ground cinnamon
- Blanch tomatoes, cold dip, peel and slice coarsely. Measure (there should be 4 quarts, 36 cups). Place tomatoes in a cheesecloth bag, hang and allow to drain thoroughly for about 1 hour. Slice onions thinly and cut each slice in half. Cut celery coarsely in 1/2" strips. Add with onion to the tomatoes. Cut red and green peppers into strips (1/2") and add to tomato mixture. Mix vinegar, sugar, salt, mustard seed and cinnamon and bring to boiling point. Pack vegetables solidly into hot, sterilized sealers, pour hot liquid over the vegetables to completely cover. Seal. Store in a cool, dry place. Do not use for at least a month. Yield: about 10 pint sealers.

Loses Licence In Motor Case

NANAIMO, Sept. 7.—Thomas Muir, logging operator, was fined $50, and prohibited from driving anywhere in Canada for 30 days by Magistrate Laurel Beevor-Potts.

He pleaded guilty to a charge of driving in a manner dangerous to the public on Front Street, Nanaimo, and a second charge of not having properly insured his vehicle. Sgt. Edward Huggenbottom told the court Muir was weaving from one side of the street to the other. Muir said he was tired after working long hours.

Dinner at Antoine's

"Oh, yes!" Ruth answered emphatically, and without further urging she gave an enthusiastic description of her first Carnival ball, ending with a glowing tribute to Clarinda. "When I saw her standing in she hadn't been in such dreadful trouble, I wouldn't have gone to the ball with Clarinda. But just the same . . ."

"Just the same, Clarinda was your dream come true," Judith said understandingly. "I see just how you talked with Miss Hickey?" Judith asked Ruth in conclusion.

"Yes. She came in yesterday morning and told me all about it. She's very hopeful that she can get off by the end of the week."
"Well, she can't," Joe said shortly. "I tried to tell her so Monday night, you remember. I wanted to emphasize what I'd said at the table on the drive home, too, but she dodged me. I reckon I'll have to corner her and talk to her in words of one syllable."
"Why?" inquired Sabin.
"Because—well, let's skip it. I was reference to what happened the other night. We'd much better have stuck to the subject of food."

"What the hell," said Sabin, with a touch of impatience. "If we all sit around here bound and determined not to talk about anything connected with Oddie, and worrying about whether some casual expression might remind us of her, it'll be one lousy party. We might as well be frank about it, and if any of us feels like mentioning it, go ahead."
"I suppose you're right," Joe agreed. "I know I can't help thinking about it. Probably none of us can. Speaking for myself, I keep wondering just what did happen to that poor girl. Too Murphy's not the ordinary run-of-the-mill cop."
"I expect he's waiting for the grand jury," Joe added reflectively. "That's what they're holding Tossie for . . . In this state you can't be tried on a capital charge unless the grand jury indicts you first," he explained to Ruth. "And of course they wouldn't call a special jury for something like this. So Tossie's just got to stay behind bars until the regular jury day. . . . All the same, Tossie isn't the kind to go off the deep end. If he says Oddie was murdered, he's got some reason for it. Sure, he might be mistaken. But it isn't just a wild guess he's grabbed out of the nearest hat. And for the same reason, I know he doesn't believe Tossie did the killing."

Sabin nodded.
"I know she didn't too," he agreed. "If Oddie was killed, it was a man who did it."
"A man?" Joe asked quietly, almost casually.
"Sure, a man," Sabin continued. "I'd had an emotional jolt of my own Saturday night that started me off on a binge and took me uptown, downtown, all around the town—you know how that wound up. I don't remember much about what I was doing or where I was. But one picture stands out pretty clearly. That is the yellow block of a drawn shade in the window of Oddie's room—the window opening on that screened patio. And there were two shadows, on the blind, a girl's and a man's. The girl's shadow was Oddie's. I mean, it must have been. I don't know whose shadow the man's was, but I naturally assumed it was Leonce. Anyway, it was a man. Nobody could have been mistaken about that. And while I was looking the two shadows came together and made one shadow. Maybe it was an embrace, maybe it was . . ."

His voice trailed away into silence.
"Maybe it could have been a struggle?" Joe asked.
"I suppose so," Sabin answered absently. "I wouldn't know. The sight of those two shadows coming together and making one shadow drove me nuts. Of course, I'd been drinking anyway, so it isn't all too clear in my mind, outside of that one sharp picture. And the rest of the night's a blank. I must have gone around from one joint to another, spooling for a fight, and finally getting service. But I don't remember that part of it," he concluded, raising his glass.
"So you don't remember anything that happened afterwards?" Joe snapped, his voice no longer indolent and casual.
"That's right . . . Say! What do you think you're trying to get at?"
"Just this. You're my guest, and all that, but I'm pretty familiar with the layout at 84 Richmond which you could have seen what you've just described, and that's from inside the railed garden beyond the patio. There aren't but two ways to get into that garden. One of them's through the house, the other by climbing the wall. So I'm asking you what the hell you were doing inside that walled garden on the night Oddie was killed by a gun that belonged to you?"

The opening lead by West was a low heart. According to my correspondent, the declarer found that his problem was too difficult, and he ended up short on trick. Thereupon all of the players at the table wrestled mightily with the question of whether or not four spades could have been made.

The answer is, yes, but it is quite understandable that the players found this hand extremely difficult to analyze.
On West's opening lead of a heart, dummy must win and declarer must immediately begin to eliminate the hearts from West's hand, to rob him of exit cards. So, at the second trick, South ruffs a low heart. He then leads a trump toward dummy. West wins with the blank ace and now there is some variety of possible defenses. West dare not "touch" the clubs but he can lead another heart, or he can tackle the diamonds. Suppose that he exits with a heart. South discards a club while winning in dummy, then ruffs away the heart jack. Now he lays down the diamond jack. West's best play is to win and return a diamond. Declarer wins in dummy's nine-spot, then leads the diamond king. East must ruff, and South over-ruffs. A trump puts dummy back on lead to cash the remaining high diamond.
If declarer leaves the hearts in West's hand, so that he can continue to "get out" in that suit, the contract is unmakeable.

Education Costs One of Top Problems Facing Municipalities Asserts Mayor

Education costs were described by Mayor Percy George of Victoria, president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, as one of the major problems facing municipal governments in the past year. He referred to education costs during the opening session of the 46th annual convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities yesterday as he presented his report on the past year's activities.

"During the past year, the Union has had the outstanding problem of educational costs and on March 4 we held what might be called a minor convention," he told delegates. "We urged that the Provincial Government give further aid to municipalities to enable them to meet the constantly rising costs of education."

Mayor George also drew the attention of the convention to the fact that he took early this year in pressing the Provincial Government for a 50-50 share of the 3 per cent sales tax. Municipalities at present receive a one-third share of the tax with the Province retaining two-thirds.

"The response from all quarters was very gratifying, though, as yet, no action has been forthcoming on the part of the Provincial Government," he stated. "I feel that the matter is of such importance to all municipalities that it should continue to be pressed with vigor by all members of this Union, both individually and collectively."

WORTHY OF SUPPORT
Mayor George told the convention that the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities was worthy of the support of every municipality in the province, both as a clearing house for the exchange of ideas and as a means of bringing municipal problems to the attention of senior governments.

"You now have before you the resolutions to be considered at this present convention, and I would especially bring to your attention resolutions dealing with education and hospitalization," he declared.

Totem Club Drops Name

The Totem Toastmasters' Club, latest speechmakers group to be organized in Victoria, held its initial "independent" meeting last night—and wound up minus the Totem.

The club lost the name it had just selected, after much discussion at its organizational meeting, when a member reported that he had previously neglected to inform the membership there was already a Totem Toastmasters in Seattle.

After some chagrined remarks, the membership of the local club decided to abandon the name and start out fresh.

A new name will be selected at next meeting after the membership has had a week to think of some names not already spoken for by other Toastmasters.

The original phrase, first on record 400 years ago, was "to take heart of grace." In the writings of John Udall (or Uvedale), the English Puritan, one finds, under date of 1548:
"They takyng hart of grace agayne."
The words' religious flavor, plain in later uses and suggested by the above quotation, is perhaps sustained as Heywood listed them, two years before Udall, in his "Proverbes":
"Thou takest hart of grace wyfe, not hart of grace."

At late as the year 1890, The London Times went on record with this old saying that had so long persisted in literature, as follows:
"The non-union labourers took heart of grace and applied for work."
